California's Job Creators Applaud Court Decision Upholding State's Cap-and-Trade Program to Advance Economic Growth

In response to the court's decision, California business groups issued the following statement:

“Several of California’s leading business groups and associations applaud today’s court decision upholding California’s Cap-and-Trade program. The ruling helps to provide continued market and regulatory certainty that is critical for businesses while creating opportunities to maximize investments in carbon reduction programs that create jobs and economic growth. With this ruling, California’s Cap-and-Trade program can continue to drive community investments and economic activity throughout our state and maintain California’s leadership.”
